When in doubt, get a Noseboost…

Leipzig, 12.July 2016 – Mogic GmbH has recently launched Nose Boost - a new free entertainment app for iOS and Android users that allows them to create pictures of themselves with a nose so huge it covers the entire mouth. So Nose Boost joins the recent hype around funny photo effect apps like Snapchat, MSQRD or Face Swap.

The app is based on the work of a team of digital artists and programmers and features a sophisticated technology resulting in an easy-to-use, fun tool.

The app contains a simple editing tool with automatic facial detection and works with any photo or selfie from the devices built-in camera or photo library. After choosing the desired image, the app will modify your nose and show you the final photo with an exaggerated enlarged nose that will cover your mouth. User can upload their creations to social networks and share them with the world.

Nose Boost also offers an in app purchase to unlock features like additional photo effects, photo frames, the possibility to edit group photos and to overlay text. The upgrade is free in the introduction phase until 15.Augist 2016.

Gunter Schwarz, managing director at Mogic GmbH said: "It was a lot of fun to create Nose Boost. This is an app for the people with a sense of humour, who are not afraid to look silly in front of their peers."

Conclusion:
Nose Boost is a great cheerful app for the young and old alike who want to have some fun in everyday life by showing their altered image to friends and families. Photos can also be shared on social networks such as Facebook, WhatsApp or Instagram. Now available for free on the App Store and Google Play Store.

About Mogic GmbH:
Mogic GmbH is a digital agency for apps and responsive websites. The company is located in Leipzig, Germany. Its creative developers plan and build solutions for web based and mobile platforms.

To learn more please visit www.noseboost.com.

Press Kit:
http://www.noseboost.com/press.html

Press contact:
info@noseboost.com
+49 341 26520133